- Provide onsite coverage at the Parenting Center during normal business hours, as arranged
- Collaboratively work with and keep clear communication with the Program Team
- Actively listen to families' concerns and needs
- Observe families' environment and report to Program Director any concerns
- Navigation support tasks can include such things as client support, internal programming connection, referral follow through to places such as the New Mexico Human Services Department and various nonprofit partners
- In-Home Support tasks can include such things as holding a newborn while the caregiver showers/naps/eats a meal/spends time with an older sibling; playing with an older sibling while the caregiver bonds with the newborn; helping to fold baby clothes; providing company for caregiver; accompanying the caregiver to a doctor's appointment or the park; and other tasks as appropriate by Many Mothers' standards and expectations

Requirements

- Minimum 6 months of professional experience supporting babies and/or toddlers (i.e. Teaching Assistant, Daycare Worker, Teacher, etc.)
- At least 6 months of case management and/or social service work experience
- Fluent in English and Spanish
- Knowledgeable about perinatal maternal health, parenting challenges, and safe sleep for infants with the ability to discuss these topics with families
- Be very familiar with Santa Fe and Northern New Mexico resources for families

- Experience using case management software
 - Experience working with and assessing walk-in clientele

Core Competencies

- High degree of integrity and dependability with a self-driven work style
- Demonstrated ability to set priorities
- Excellent communication skills (written and verbal)
- Willingness to address conflicts or issues as they arise
- Provides creativity, humility, humor, kindness, and flexibility
- Strong critical thinking skills, curiosity, and willingness to learn
- Commitment to developing and strengthening relationships with community members, peers, funders, and partners
- Solid understanding of the infant welfare and the 0-3 landscape
- Self-reflective approach to work and a willingness to offer and receive feedback in service of professional growth both individually and organizationally
